IMPACT

First Fruits Farm is a farm up in Freeland, MD that is all about sharing the good news about Jesus! They donate all the produce that is grown and is run mostly by volunteers. Most of the produce harvested is donated to the Maryland Food bank and then given to those in need. They also send food to natural disaster sites, and areas that are in states of emergency, for example down south during hurricane season. They also give to other churches and organizations so they can get the food into the hands of those who need it.
